Judgment of the Court (Grand Chamber) of 18 January 2022 (request for a preliminary ruling from the Verwaltungsgerichtshof — Austria) — JY v Wiener Landesregierung

(Case C-118/20) <sup>(1)</sup>

(Reference for a preliminary ruling — Citizenship of the Union — Articles 20 and 21 TFEU — Scope — Renunciation of the nationality of one Member State in order to obtain the nationality of another Member State in accordance with the assurance given by the latter to naturalise the person concerned — Revocation of that assurance on grounds of public policy or public security — Principle of proportionality — Statelessness)

(2022/C 119/09)

Language of the case: German

Referring court

Verwaltungsgerichtshof

Parties to the main proceedings

Applicant: JY

Defendant: Wiener Landesregierung

Operative part of the judgment

1. The situation of a person who, having the nationality of one Member State only, renounces that nationality and loses, as a result, his or her status of citizen of the Union, with a view to obtaining the nationality of another Member State, following the assurance given by the authorities of the latter Member State that he or she will be granted that nationality, falls, by reason of its nature and its consequences, within the scope of EU law where that assurance is revoked with the effect of preventing that person from recovering the status of citizen of the Union.
2. Article 20 TFEU must be interpreted as meaning that the competent national authorities and, as the case may be, the national courts of the host Member State are required to ascertain whether the decision to revoke the assurance as to the grant of the nationality of that Member State, which makes the loss of the status of citizen of the Union permanent for the person concerned, is compatible with the principle of proportionality in the light of the consequences it entails for that person's situation. That requirement of compatibility with the principle of proportionality is not satisfied where such a decision is based on administrative traffic offences which, under the applicable provisions of national law, give rise to a mere pecuniary penalty.

Operative part of the judgment

1. Article 32(1) of Directive 2009/72/EC of the European Parliament and of the Council of 13 July 2009 concerning common rules for the internal market in electricity and repealing Directive 2003/54/EC must be interpreted as not precluding a Member State from granting certain electricity producers whose installations use indigenous primary energy fuel sources a right of guaranteed access to transmission systems in order to ensure security of electricity supply, provided that that right of guaranteed access is based on objective and reasonable criteria and is proportionate to the legitimate aim pursued, which it is for the referring court to ascertain.

2. Article 107(1) TFEU must be interpreted as meaning that a series of measures introduced by a government decision and consisting of, first, priority dispatch by the system operator, in which the State has the majority shareholding, of the electricity generated by certain electricity producers whose installations use indigenous primary energy fuel sources, second, guaranteed access to transmission systems for the electricity generated by those producers' installations, and, third, an obligation for those producers to provide ancillary services for a certain quantity of megawatts to the system operator, which is to reserve for them a right to supply that quantity at prices fixed in advance and deemed to exceed the prices on the market, may be classified as 'State aid' within the meaning of Article 107(1) TFEU. If this is the case, such a series of measures must be regarded as new aid and is, on that ground, subject to the obligation of prior notification to the European Commission, in accordance with Article 108(3) TFEU.

Judgment of the Court (Grand Chamber) of 25 January 2022 (request for a preliminary ruling from the Nejvyšší soud — Czech Republic) — VYSOČINA WIND a.s. v Česká republika — Ministerstvo životního prostředí

(Reference for a preliminary ruling — Environment — Directive 2012/19/EU — Waste electrical and electronic equipment — Obligation to finance the costs relating to the management of waste from photovoltaic panels — Retroactive effect — Principle of legal certainty — Incorrect transposition of a directive — Liability of the Member State)

(2022/C 119/12)

Language of the case: Czech

Referring court

Nejvyšší soud České republiky

Parties to the main proceedings

Applicant: VYSOČINA WIND a.s.

Defendant: Česká republika — Ministerstvo životního prostředí

Operative part of the judgment

1. Article 13(1) of Directive 2012/19/EU of the European Parliament and of the Council of 4 July 2012 on waste electrical and electronic equipment (WEEE) is invalid in so far as it imposes on producers the obligation to finance the costs relating to the management of waste from photovoltaic panels placed on the market between 13 August 2005 and 13 August 2012.

Article 13(1) of Directive 2012/19 must be interpreted as precluding national legislation which imposes on users of photovoltaic panels, and not on producers of those panels, the obligation to finance the costs relating to the management of waste from such panels placed on the market from 13 August 2012, the date on which that directive entered into force.

2. EU law must be interpreted as meaning that the fact that a Member State adopted legislation contrary to an EU directive prior to the adoption of that directive does not constitute, in itself, a breach of EU law, since the achievement of the result prescribed by the directive cannot be regarded as seriously compromised before the directive forms part of the EU legal order.

Referring court

Augstākā tiesa (Senāts)

Operative part of the judgment

1. Article 30(6)(a) of Regulation (EU) No 1305/2013 of the European Parliament and of the Council of 17 December 2013 on support for rural development by the European Agricultural Fund for Rural Development (EAFRD) and repealing Council Regulation (EC) No 1698/2005 must be interpreted as meaning that it does not exclude, in principle, peat bogs from Natura 2000 payments, in so far as those peat bogs are situated in Natura 2000 areas designated pursuant to Council Directive 92/43/EEC of 21 May 1992 on the conservation of natural habitats and of wild fauna and flora and to Directive 2009/147/EC of the European Parliament and of the Council of 30 November 2009 on the conservation of wild birds, and fall within the concept of ‘agricultural area’ or ‘forest’, within the meaning of, respectively, points (f) and (r) of Article 2(1) or of Article 2(2) of Regulation No 1305/2013, which may thus be eligible for the payments referred to in Article 30(1) of that regulation as ‘Natura 2000 agricultural and forest areas’ within the meaning of Article 30(6)(a) thereof;
2. Article 30(6)(a) of Regulation No 1305/2013 must be interpreted as allowing a Member State to exclude from Natura 2000 payments, first, ‘Natura 2000 agricultural areas’ within the meaning of that provision, including, in that case, peat bogs which come within such areas and, second, and in accordance with Article 2(2) of Regulation No 1305/2013, peat bogs situated in Natura 2000 areas, which, in principle, come within the concept of ‘forest’, within the meaning of Article 2(1)(r) of that regulation, and thus of ‘Natura 2000 forest areas’ within the meaning of Article 30(6)(a) of that regulation. The latter provision must also be interpreted as permitting a Member State to limit such payments for Natura 2000 forest areas, including, where appropriate, peat bogs, to situations where the designation of those areas as ‘Natura 2000 areas’ has the effect of adversely affecting the exercise of a specific type of economic activity, in particular forestry;
3. Article 30 of Regulation No 1305/2013, read in conjunction with Article 17 of the Charter of Fundamental Rights of the European Union, must be interpreted as meaning that a Natura 2000 payment must not be granted to the owner of a peat bog that comes within the Natura 2000 network on the basis that a restriction has been made to an economic activity which may be carried out on such a peat bog, in particular the prohibition on planting cranberries, where, at the time when he or she acquired the immovable property concerned, the owner was aware of such restriction.

1. Article 17 of the Charter of Fundamental Rights of the European Union must be interpreted as not precluding the compensation granted by a Member State for the losses suffered by an economic operator as a result of the protective measures applicable in a Natura 2000 area under Directive 2009/147/EC of the European Parliament and of the Council of 30 November 2009 on the conservation of wild birds being significantly less than the damage actually incurred by that operator;
2. Article 107(1) TFEU must be interpreted as meaning that compensation granted by a Member State for the losses suffered by an economic operator as a result of the protective measures applicable in a Natura 2000 network area under Directive 2009/147 confers an advantage capable of constituting ‘State aid’ for the purposes of that provision, where the other conditions relating to such a classification are satisfied;
3. Article 3(2) of Regulation (EU) No 717/2014 of 27 June 2014 on the application of Articles 107 and 108 [TFEU] to de minimis aid in the fishery and aquaculture sector must be interpreted as meaning that, in a case where the compensation such as that described in point 2 of this operative part fulfils the conditions of Article 107(1) TFEU, the de minimis ceiling of EUR 30 000, provided for in that Article 3(2) of Regulation No 717/2014, is applicable to that compensation.

EU law must be interpreted as meaning that a national court, when hearing a dispute which is exclusively between private individuals, is not required, solely on the basis of EU law, to disapply a piece of national legislation which, in breach of Article 15(1), (2)(g) and (3) of Directive 2006/123/EC of the European Parliament and of the Council of 12 December 2006 on services in the internal market, sets minimum rates for fees for services provided by architects and engineers and which renders invalid agreements derogating from that legislation, without prejudice, however, to, first, the possibility for that court to disapply that legislation on the basis of domestic law in the context of such a dispute, and, second, the right of a party which has been harmed as a result of national law not being in conformity with EU law to claim compensation for the ensuing loss or damage sustained by that party.

1. Article 2(18)(a) of Commission Regulation (EU) No 651/2014 of 17 June 2014 declaring certain categories of aid compatible with the internal market in application of Articles 107 and 108 [TFEU] must be interpreted as meaning that, in order to determine whether a company is ‘in difficulty’ within the meaning of that provision, the expression ‘subscribed share capital’ must be understood as referring to all contributions which current or future members or shareholders of a company have made or have irrevocably undertaken to make.

2. Article 3(3) of Regulation (EU) No 1301/2013 of the European Parliament and of the Council of 17 December 2013 on the European Regional Development Fund and on specific provisions concerning the Investment for growth and jobs goal and repealing Regulation (EC) No 1080/2006 must be interpreted as meaning that, in order to determine whether a project applicant is to be regarded as not being 'in difficulty' within the meaning of Article 2(18) of Regulation No 651/2014, the competent managing authority must take account only of evidence which complies with the requirements laid down when the project selection procedure was drawn up, provided that those requirements comply with the principles of effectiveness and equivalence, as well as with the general principles of EU law, such as, in particular, the principles of equal treatment, transparency and proportionality.
3. Article 125(3) of Regulation (EU) No 1303/2013 of the European Parliament and of the Council of 17 December 2013 laying down common provisions on the European Regional Development Fund, the European Social Fund, the Cohesion Fund, the European Agricultural Fund for Rural Development and the European Maritime and Fisheries Fund and laying down general provisions on the European Regional Development Fund, the European Social Fund, the Cohesion Fund and the European Maritime and Fisheries Fund and repealing Council Regulation (EC) No 1083/2006, together with the principles of non-discrimination and transparency to which that provision refers, must be interpreted as not precluding national legislation under which project applications may not be the subject of clarification after the deadline for submission of those applications. However, in accordance with the principle of equivalence, that impossibility, for project applicants, to complete their file after the deadline for submission of project applications must concern all procedures which may, where appropriate, be regarded as comparable with regard to their purpose, cause of action and essential characteristics to that laid down for receipt of support from the European Regional Development Fund.

Questions referred

1. (a) Where the surrender of the requested person is sought for the purpose of serving a custodial sentence which was suspended ab initio but which was subsequently ordered to be enforced as a result of the conviction of the requested person for a further criminal offence, and where that enforcement order was made by the court that convicted and sentenced the requested person for that further criminal offence, are the proceedings leading to that subsequent conviction and enforcement order part of the 'trial resulting in the decision' for the purposes of Article 4a(l) of Council Framework Decision 2002/584/JHA <sup>(1)</sup>?
- (b) Is it relevant to the answer 1 (a) above whether the court that made the enforcement order was obliged to make that order as a matter of law or whether it had a discretion to make such an order?
2. In the circumstances set out in question 1 above, is the executing judicial authority entitled to inquire into whether the proceedings leading to the subsequent conviction and enforcement order, which took place in the absence of the requested person, were conducted in compliance with Article 6 of the European Convention on Human Rights and Fundamental Freedoms and, in particular, whether the absence of the requested person involved a violation of the rights of the defence and/or the requested person's right to a fair trial?
3. (a) In the circumstances set out in question 1 above, if the executing judicial authority is satisfied that the proceedings leading to the subsequent conviction and enforcement order were not conducted in compliance with Article 6 of the European Convention on Human Rights and Fundamental Freedoms and, in particular, that the absence of the requested person involved a violation of the rights of the defence and/or of the requested person's right to a fair trial, is the executing judicial authority entitled and/or obliged (a) to refuse surrender of the requested person on the basis that such surrender would be contrary to Article 6 of the Convention and/or Articles 47 and 48(2) of the Charter of Fundamental Rights of the European Union and/or (b) to require the issuing judicial authority as a condition of surrender to provide a guarantee that the requested person will, upon surrender, be entitled to a retrial or appeal, in which they will have a right to participate and which allows for the merits of the case, including fresh evidence, to be re-examined which may lead to the original decision being reversed, in respect of the conviction leading to the enforcement order?

- (b) For the purposes of question 3 (a) above, is the applicable test whether the surrender of the requested person would breach the essence of their fundamental rights under Article 6 of the Convention and/or Articles 47 and 48(2) of the Charter and, if so, is the fact that the proceedings leading to the subsequent conviction and enforcement order were conducted in absentia, and that, in event of his surrender, the requested person will not have a right to a retrial or appeal, sufficient to permit the executing judicial authority to conclude that surrender would breach the essence of those rights?

Form of order sought

The appellant claims that the Court should:

- Annul Articles 1, 2, 3 and 4 of Commission Decision C(2018) 2418 final of 24 April 2018 imposing a fine for putting into effect a concentration in breach of Article 4(1) and Article 7(1) of Council Regulation (EC) No. 139/2004 <sup>(1)</sup> (Case M. 7993-Altice/PT Portugal, Article 14 (2) procedure) ('the contested decision');
- In the alternative, exercise its unlimited jurisdiction to substantially reduce the fines imposed in Article 3 and Article 4 of the contested decision, the latter as amended by the Judgment of the General Court;
- In the further alternative, to refer the case back to the General Court for it to decide, bound by the decision of the Court on points of law;
- Order the Commission to pay the appellant's costs, both in the appeal and in the proceedings before the General Court.

Pleas in law and main arguments

First: The Judgment under appeal erred in law in rejecting Altice's objection of illegality

The Judgment under appeal erred in law and infringed the principle of proportionality and the prohibition of double punishment rooted in the general principles common to the legal systems of the Member States governing the concurrence of laws, in rejecting Altice's objection of illegality (Article 277 TFEU) regarding Article 14(2)(a) in conjunction with Article 4(1) of Regulation 139/2004 (EUMR). There is no 'notification obligation' in Article 4(1) EUMR distinct from the 'standstill obligation' of Article 7(1) EUMR, as infringing Article 4(1) necessarily requires the 'implementation' of a concentration. Article 4(1) and the first limb of Article 7(1) apply to the same conduct and pursue the same legal interest. The possibility of imposing two cumulative fines under letters (a) and (b) of Article 14(2) EUMR therefore contravenes the said general principles of EU law.

Second: The Judgment under appeal erred in law in rejecting that, by imposing two cumulative fines for the same conduct, the Contested Decision infringed the principles of proportionality and the prohibition of double punishment

The case-law of the Court requires that, where the principle of ne bis in idem does not preclude the imposition of two fines on an undertaking in a single decision for the same facts, the authority 'must nevertheless ensure that the fines are proportionate to the nature of the infringement'. The Judgment under appeal does not comply with this mandate. Only one fine imposed pursuant to Article 14(2)(b) EUMR for infringing Article 7(1) EUMR can be compatible with the proportionality requirement. A second fine imposed pursuant to Article 14(2)(a) EUMR is, by definition, excessive and therefore disproportionate and also contrary to the prohibition of double punishment rooted in the general principles common to the legal systems of the Member States governing the concurrence of laws.

Third Ground: The Judgment under appeal erred in law in interpreting the notion of 'implementation' in Articles 4(1) and 7(1) EUMR

By holding that the 'possibility of exercising decisive influence' already amounts to the implementation of a concentration, the judgment under appeal erred in law as it confounds the notions of 'concentration' and 'implementation', and relies on an inaccurate interpretation of the judgment of 31 May 2018 in case C-633/16, Ernst & Young, which clarified that transactions that are not necessary to achieve such a change of control do not fall under Article 7(1) EUMR because they do not present a functional link with its implementation.

Fourth Ground: The Judgment under appeal erred in law in interpreting the notion of 'veto right' for the purposes of Articles 3(2), 4(1) and 7(1) EUMR or, alternatively, distorted the SPA by interpreting that it conferred 'veto rights'

Assuming -quod non- that the mere 'possibility of exercising decisive influence' amounts to an 'implementation' of a concentration, Article 3(2) EUMR requires a change of control on a lasting basis resulting from means which confer 'veto rights over strategic business decisions', i.e., 'the power to block' the strategic behaviour of an undertaking. The Judgment under appeal erred in law by extending the notion of 'veto rights' to situations which do not confer the power to block strategic decisions. Alternatively, the Judgment under appeal distorted the SPA by interpreting its pre-closing covenants as conferring 'veto rights' on Altice.

Fifth Ground: The General Court erred in law in concluding that exchanges of information amount to an 'implementation' of a concentration within the meaning of Articles 4(1) and 7(1) EUMR

The Judgment under appeal erred in law in considering that exchanges of information in the context of a concentration fall under Articles 4(1) and 7(1) EUMR, whereas Article 101 TFEU and Regulation (EC) 1/2003 <sup>(1)</sup> presuppose an ex-post mechanism. This is inconsistent with the judgment in case C-633/16 and would reduce the scope of Regulation (EC) 1/2003. The Judgment under appeal also distorts the Contested Decision in finding that it interprets that the exchanges of information did not in themselves infringe Articles 4(1) and 7(1) EUMR but merely 'contributed' to demonstrate the infringement.

Sixth: The General Court erred in law in rejecting Altice's pleas of illegality and lack of proportionality of the fines

The Judgment under appeal erred in law in considering that Altice was negligent. Furthermore, the level of the fines resulting from the Judgment under appeal is not only inappropriate, but also excessive to the point of being disproportionate. The General Court therefore erred in law by not substantially reducing the amount of the fines in exercise of its unlimited jurisdiction.

Other parties to the proceedings: Axa Assurances Luxembourg SA, Baloise Assurances Luxembourg SA, La Luxembourgeoise SA, Nationale-Nederlanden Schadeverzekering Maatschappij NV

Form of order sought

- annul the second and fourth paragraphs of the operative part of the judgment under appeal;
- refer the case back to the General Court;
- reserve costs, with the exception of those which are subject to the third paragraph of the operative part of the judgment under appeal.

In the alternative,

- annul the second and fourth paragraphs of the operative part of the judgment under appeal;
- grant the form of order sought by the European Parliament at first instance in respect of Axa Assurances Luxembourg SA, Baloise Assurances Luxembourg SA and La Luxembourgeoise SA.

Grounds of appeal and main arguments

In support of its appeal, the European Parliament raises three grounds of appeal.

The first ground of appeal alleges an error of law consisting in the infringement of the principles of interpretation of EU law. The Parliament considers that the General Court disregarded, in particular, the rule of interpretation consisting in taking account of the purpose of the contract and the context in which its terms, and more specifically the term 'flooding', appear. In the alternative, the Parliament takes the view that the General Court distorted the exclusion clause relating to flooding.

The second ground of appeal alleges an error relating to reasoning of the judgment under appeal, which is, in the Parliament's view, vitiated by a contradiction in the reasoning of the General Court on the interpretation of the term 'flooding'.

Thirdly, the Parliament considers that the judgment under appeal contains several distortions of the facts and evidence: the General Court distorted the Parliament's position on the interpretation of the term 'flooding'; it assessed the situation of the building site at the time of the damage in a manifestly erroneous manner, and also distorted the findings of the expert report on the causes of the damage.

Action brought on 30 December 2021 — Republic of Latvia v Kingdom of Sweden

(Case C-822/21)

(2022/C 119/33)

Language of the case: Swedish

Parties

Applicant: Republic of Latvia (represented by: K. Pommere, J. Davidoviča and I. Romanovska)

Defendant: Kingdom of Sweden

Form of order sought

The Republic of Latvia claims that the Court should:

- hold that the Kingdom of Sweden has failed to fulfil its obligations under:
  - Article 14(3) of Directive 2014/49/EU, <sup>(1)</sup> in so far as, by refusing to transfer to the Latvian DGF (Deposit Guarantee Fund) the contributions paid by the Latvian branch of Nordea Bank AB, calculated for the contribution period in accordance with Article 14(3) of Directive 2014/49/EU, the Kingdom of Sweden has acted contrary to the objective pursued by that directive and has not ensured the effectiveness of the provisions of that directive;

- Article 4(3) TEU, in so far as, by refusing to transfer to the Latvian DGF the contributions paid by the Latvian branch of Nordea Bank AB, calculated for the contribution period in accordance with Article 14(3) of Directive 2014/49/EU, the Kingdom of Sweden has adversely affected the integration of the single market and in so doing undermines the mutual trust between EU Member States, which is a pre-requisite for cross-border integration.

If the Court finds that the Kingdom of Sweden has failed to fulfil its obligations under Article 14(3) of Directive 2014/49/EU and Article 4(3) TEU:

- order the Kingdom of Sweden to put an end to the infringement by having the Swedish DGF transfer to the Latvian DGF the full amount of the contributions paid by the Latvian branch of Nordea Bank AB, calculated for the contribution period in accordance with Article 14(3) of Directive 2014/49/EU;
- if Article 14(3) of Directive 2014/49/EU is to be interpreted strictly, specify its compatibility with the objective of Directive 2014/49/EU and the obligation of the Swedish DGF to transfer to the Latvian DGF the contributions paid by the Latvian branch of Nordea Bank AB;
- order the Kingdom of Sweden to pay the costs.

Pleas in law and main arguments

In support of its action, the applicant puts forward pleas in law alleging an infringement of Article 14(3) of Directive 2014/49/EU and an infringement of the EU Treaty (the principle of sincere cooperation).

1. By refusing to transfer to the Latvian DGF the contributions paid by the Latvian branch of Nordea Bank AB, calculated for the contribution period in accordance with Article 14(3) of Directive 2014/49/EU, the Kingdom of Sweden has acted contrary to the objective pursued by Directive 2014/49/EU.
2. By refusing to transfer to the Latvian DGF the contributions paid by the Latvian branch of Nordea Bank AB, calculated for the contribution period in accordance with Article 14(3) of Directive 2014/49/EU, the Kingdom of Sweden has adversely affected the integration of the single market and in so doing undermines the mutual trust between EU Member States, which is a pre-requisite for cross-border integration. Accordingly, the Kingdom of Sweden has infringed Article 4(3) TEU.
3. The Republic of Latvia submits that, by refusing to transfer the contributions paid and in formally justifying that refusal by the date on which those contributions were actually paid, the Kingdom of Sweden has infringed Directive 2014/49/EU and that that infringement compromises the achievement of EU objectives and strips Latvia of the right to contributions which compensate the risk associated with deposits guaranteed by a credit institution transferred under its responsibility, resulting in a breach of the principle of sincere cooperation enshrined in Article 4(3) TEU and the achievement of the objectives of Directive 2014/49/EU being compromised.

Are claims ‘so closely connected’ that it is expedient to hear and determine them together to prevent irreconcilable judgments, within the meaning of Article 8(1) of Regulation No 1215/2012, where, in infringement proceedings for infringement of an EU trade mark, the connection consists in the fact that the defendant domiciled in a Member State (here, Poland) supplied the goods which infringe an EU trade mark to a defendant domiciled in another Member State (here, Germany) whose legal representative, against whom infringement proceedings have also been brought, is the anchor defendant, if the parties are connected to each other only through the mere supply relationship beyond which there is no legal or factual connection?

- Allow the appeal and set aside the judgment under appeal;
- decide on the further course of action as a matter of right;
- order the defendants to pay the costs.

Grounds of appeal and main arguments

In the first place, the appellant submits that the General Court distorted the appellant’s application as regards the act adversely affecting it.

In the second place, the appellant submits that the General Court made several errors of law:

As regards, first, the liability of the European Union for unlawful conduct, the General Court disregarded the principles of the rule of law and Article 47 of the Charter of Fundamental Rights by holding that the acts and omissions of the Eurogroup could not, in any event, give rise to non-contractual liability on the part of the European Union. The General Court also failed to have regard to the principle of equal treatment by holding that the mere acquisition of bonds, subsequently discounted, by natural and legal persons, was sufficient to consider them to be in an identical or comparable situation within the meaning of the case-law.

Next, the General Court made errors of law concerning strict liability. First, according to the appellant, the General Court wrongly excluded the very existence of strict liability. Second, the General Court erred in law in its assessment of the 'abnormal' nature of the damage.

1. Must the EU rules on State aid, in particular the first alternative of the definition of 'start of works' in paragraph 19(44) of the Commission Communication 'Guidelines on State aid for environmental protection and energy 2014-2020',<sup>(1)</sup> namely 'start of construction works on the investment', be interpreted as meaning the start of construction works connected with any investment project or only the start of construction works connected with the installation of the investment project which will produce renewable energy?

2. Must the EU rules on State aid, in particular the first alternative of the definition of 'start of works' in paragraph 19(44) of the Commission Communication 'Guidelines on State aid for environmental protection and energy 2014-2020', namely 'start of construction works on the investment', be interpreted as meaning that, in a situation in which the competent authority of the Member State has established the start of the construction works in connection with an investment, that authority must, in accordance with the principle of the protection of legitimate expectations, additionally assess the stage of development of the investment project and the likelihood of completion of that project?
3. If the previous question is answered in the affirmative: can other objective circumstances, such as pending litigation which prevents the continuation of the investment project, be taken into account in the assessment of the stage of development of the investment project?
4. Is it relevant in the present case that the Court of Justice of the European Union held, in Case C-349/17, <sup>(1)</sup> Eesti Pagar, paragraphs 61 and 68, that the question as to whether or not an incentive effect exists cannot be regarded as being a criterion that is clear and easily applicable by the national authorities, since its verification would necessitate, on a case-by-case basis, complex economic assessments, with the consequence that such a criterion would not comply with the requirement that the criteria for the application of an exemption must be clear and easily applicable by the national authorities?
5. If the previous question is answered in the affirmative: must the EU rules on State aid, in particular footnote 66 to paragraph 126 of the Commission Communication 'Guidelines on State aid for environmental protection and energy 2014-2020', in conjunction with paragraph 19(44) of that communication, be interpreted as meaning that the national authority is not required to make an economic assessment of the investment project, on a case-by-case basis, when examining the criterion of start of works?
6. If the previous question is answered in the affirmative: must the EU rules on State aid, in particular the last alternative of the definition of 'start of works' in paragraph 19(44) of the Commission Communication 'Guidelines on State aid for environmental protection and energy 2014-2020', namely 'other commitment that makes the investment irreversible', be interpreted as meaning that any other commitment, with the exception of the buying of land and preparatory works (such as obtaining permits), makes the investment irreversible, irrespective of the cost of the commitment entered into?
7. Must the EU rules on State aid, in particular the concept of 'start of works' in paragraph 19(44) of the Commission Communication 'Guidelines on State aid for environmental protection and energy 2014-2020', be interpreted as meaning that the existence of a right to use the land held by the energy producer and the existence of State authorisation for implementing the investment project are essential conditions for the start of works?
8. If the previous question is answered in the affirmative: must the concept 'State authorisation for implementing the investment project' be interpreted in the light of national law, and can it be only the authorisation on the basis of which the construction work relating to the investment project is carried out?

Question referred

Must Article 4 of Council Directive 89/105/EEC of 21 December 1988 relating to the transparency of measures regulating the pricing of medicinal products for human use and their inclusion in the scope of national health insurance systems <sup>(1)</sup> be interpreted as meaning that the concept of a ‘price freeze [...] on all medicinal products or on certain categories of medicinal products’ applies to a measure whose purpose is to control the prices of medicinal products but which concerns only certain medicinal products, on an individual basis, and is not intended to apply to all medicinal products or even to certain categories of them, when the safeguards which that article attaches to the existence of such a price-freezing measure as defined by that article appear, for such a measure, meaningless and pointless?

Appeal brought on 20 January 2022 by Liam Jenkinson against the judgment of the General Court (Second Chamber, Extended Composition) delivered on 10 November 2021 in Case T-602/15 RENV, Jenkinson v Council and Others

(Case C-46/22 P)

(2022/C 119/39)

Language of the case: French

Parties

Appellant: Liam Jenkinson (represented by: N. de Montigny, avocate)

Other parties to the proceedings: Council of the European Union, European Commission, European External Action Service, Eulex Kosovo

Form of order sought

The appellant claims that the Court should:

- uphold the appeal and set aside the judgment under appeal;
- dispose of the case and grant the form of order sought by the applicant at first instance;
- in the alternative, refer the case back to the General Court for judgment;
- order the respondents to pay all the costs incurred in the appeal proceedings and in each of the earlier proceedings (T-602/15; C-43/17 P; T-602/15 RENV).

Grounds of appeal and main arguments

The first ground of appeal alleges misinterpretation of the claims and pleas put forward in that the General Court excluded from its review all principal claims based on a plea of illegality.

The second ground of appeal alleges a reduction of the factual and legal considerations set out by the applicant and therefore of the subject matter of the action in that the General Court exclusively analysed the applicant's last post in the Eulex Kosovo Mission.

The third ground of appeal is directed against the judgment under appeal in so far as it rejected the first principal head of claim.

The fourth ground of appeal alleges misapplication of the principle of equal treatment between staff members of the Union and infringement of Article 336 TFEU, the General Court having reversed the intention of the EU legislature to offer minimum social security coverage to all employees. In the appellant's view, the General Court also infringed the concept of the rule of law by excluding all non-contractual liability of the defendants.

The fifth ground of appeal is directed against the rejection, on grounds of inadmissibility, of the third head of claim put forward in the alternative at first instance. In any event, the appellant submits that the General Court should have raised of its own motion certain pleas involving matters of public policy and analysed the merits of the case.

Language of the case: English

Parties

Applicant: Polynt SpA (Scanzorosciate, Italy) (represented by: C. Mereu and S. Abdel-Qader, lawyers)

Defendant: European Chemicals Agency

Form of order sought

The applicant claims that the Court should:

- declare the application admissible and well-founded;
- annul the Decision of the ECHA Board of Appeal of 9 November 2021 in case A-009-2020;
- declare — or order ECHA to adopt a new decision declaring — that the applicant is released from the obligation to provide any further information to ECHA following the cease of production due to force majeure; and

- order ECHA to pay all costs of these proceedings and those incurred by the appellant in the proceedings before the Board of Appeal and a refund of the fees paid under those proceedings.

Pleas in law and main arguments

In support of the action, the applicant relies on six pleas in law.

1. First plea in law, alleging that the Board of Appeal erred in law, when it held that the cease of manufacture of the substance 1,3-dioxo-2-benzofuran-5-carboxylic acid with nonan-1-ol (EC Number 941-303-6) (hereinafter "the substance") for reasons of force majeure does not relieve the appellant from the obligation to provide the information requested in the initial compliance check decision on the substance.
2. Second plea in law, alleging that the Board of Appeal distorted the evidence on record and on that basis (i) reached a wrong legal conclusion and (ii) required the applicant to bring evidence by reference to unsubstantiated hypothesis.
3. Third plea in law, alleging that the Board of Appeal wrongly interpreted and applied Articles 42(1) and 50(2) of Regulation (EC) N° 1907/2006 ('REACH').<sup>(1)</sup>
4. Fourth plea in law, alleging that the Board of Appeal wrongly interpreted and applied Articles 5 and 6 of the REACH.
5. Fifth plea in law, alleging that the Board of Appeal wrongly held that the guidance available on the website of ECHA on the consequences of the cease of manufacture did not give the applicant precise assurances and that ECHA did not breach the principles of legal certainty and the protection of legitimate expectations.
6. Sixth plea in law, alleging that the Board of Appeal wrongly interpreted and applied the principle of proportionality and the right to good administration.

Action brought on 23 January 2022 — Swords v Commission and ECDC*(Case T-55/22)

(2022/C 119/79)

*Language of the case: EnglishParties

Applicant: Patrick Swords (Dublin, Ireland) (represented by: G. M. Byrne, Barrister-at-law)

Defendants: European Commission and European Centre for Disease Prevention and Control

Form of order sought

The applicant claims that the Court should:

- annul the ECDC's risk assessment of 24 November 2021, ECDC's statement of 24 November 2021, ECDC's threat assessments of 26 November 2021 and 2 December 2021 and ECDC's risk assessment of 15 December 2021;
- declare that the Commission's communication to the Parliament, the Council, the European Economic and Social Committee and the Committee of the Regions of 1 December 2021 as well as the coordinated approach of the Commission and the Health Security Committee of 10 December 2021 are inapplicable pursuant Article 277 TFUE; and
- order the defendants to pay the costs.

Pleas in law and main arguments

In support of the action, the applicant relies on four pleas in law.

1. First plea in law, alleging that ECDC failed to follow essential procedural requirements, including its own internal rules and code of good administrative behaviour. It is argued that ECDC disregarded recognized risk assessment methodology, failed to accord with the requisite standards, including that of scientific excellence and independence, and failed to fulfil its legal obligations in the production and publishing of the contested acts. It is further argued that the contested risk assessment reports are grossly misleading and alarmist, the effects of which were foreseeable to the ECDC and a foregone conclusion due to the reliance placed upon those reports by Union institutions and Member States alike.
2. Second plea in law, alleging that ECDC infringed the EU Treaties, ignored the rule of law, violated his fundamental rights by failing to fulfil its duties and obligations set out in the EU Treaties in the production and publication of the contested acts.
3. Third plea in law, alleging that in producing and publishing the contested acts, the ECDC infringed general principles of EU law including the principles of proportionality, legal certainty and legitimate expectation, as well as infringing the applicant's fundamental rights.
4. Forth plea in law, alleging that ECDC misused its powers.
5. The applicant also raises an objection of inapplicability, pursuant Article 277 TFUE, in respect of the Commission's communication to the Parliament, the Council, the European Economic and Social Committee and the Committee of the Regions of 1 December 2021 as well as the coordinated approach of the Commission and the Health Security Committee of 10 December 2021. It is argued that since the aforementioned acts were formulated and published on foot of the contested ECDC's risk assessments, it follows that they have been rendered unlawful.

Action brought on 28 January 2022 — Hungary v Commission*(Case T-57/22)

(2022/C 119/80)

Language of the case: HungarianPartiesApplicant: Hungary (represented by: M. Z. Fehér and G. Koós, acting as Agents)Defendant: European CommissionForm of order sought

The applicant claims that the Court should:

- annul Commission Implementing Decision (EU) 2017/2014 of 8 November 2017 excluding from European Union financing certain expenditure incurred by the Member States under the European Agricultural Guarantee Fund (EAGF) and under the European Agricultural Fund for Rural Development (EAFRD),<sup>(1)</sup> in so far as it relates to Hungary and excludes from European Union financing the financial assistance established for the financial year 2018-2019 in relation to the deficiencies in the functioning of the key controls ‘checks to establish the access to the aid claimed’ and ‘correct calculation of the aid including administrative reductions and penalties’;
- order the Commission to pay the costs.

Pleas in law and main arguments

The Hungarian Government maintains that Hungary has not infringed the provisions relating to checks to establish the access to the aid claimed and that the value of the marketed production of each producer organisation was not incorrectly calculated. The practice followed by Hungary is in accordance with Articles 42 and 50(7) of Regulation 543/2011.<sup>(2)</sup> Similarly, there are no deficiencies in relation to the checks to establish the eligibility of operational programmes and the Hungarian authorities acted in accordance with Article 104(2) of Regulation 543/2011.

Hungary has implemented adequate corrective measures in relation to the findings concerning the second deficiency in the functioning of the key control (‘correct calculation of the aid including administrative reductions and penalties’) and, for that reason, the application of the financial correction is not justified in respect of the expenditure relating to the financial years 2018 and 2019.

Action brought on 31 January 2022 — OD v Eurojust*(Case T-61/22)

(2022/C 119/81)

Language of the case: FrenchPartiesApplicant: OD (represented by: N de Montigny, lawyer)Defendant: European Union Agency for Criminal Justice CooperationForm of order sought

The applicant claims that the Court should:

- annul the decision of 17 June 2021;

- annul, in so far as necessary, inasmuch as it provides an additional statement of reasons, the decision of 21 October 2021;
- order the Agency to provide the applicant with compensation in the sum of EUR 35 000 ex aequo et bono for psychological, material and non-material harm;
- order the defendant to pay the costs.

Pleas in law and main arguments

In support of the action against the transfer decision, the applicant relies on four pleas in law.

1. First plea in law, alleging infringement of the principle of confidentiality connected with the request for assistance and a lack of appearance of impartiality as regards the treatment of the applicant's file by Eurojust.
2. Second plea in law, alleging a lack of competence to take the contested decision on the part of the Administrative Director, based on his having a conflict of interest, his lack of impartiality towards the applicant, or at least a lack of appearance of impartiality on his part, and infringement of the rules for replacing an authority empowered to conclude contracts of employment in the event of inability to intervene.
3. Third plea in law, alleging abuse of process and misuse of powers by the Administrative Director.
4. Fourth plea in law, alleging that the transfer of the applicant in the alleged interest of the service was carried out in breach of the duty to have regard for the welfare of staff, without taking into consideration either the interest of the member of staff or the interest of the service and without observance of the right to be heard and the need to state the reasons for the decision affecting the interests of the member of staff concerned.
